REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND DEMOGRAPHIC FLOWS OF SOUTHEASTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES

Niš, 23 June 2023

In carrying out its mission in the field of education and science, during the tradition 60 years long, the Faculty of Economics in Niš has become recognisable by the very successful organisation of scientific conferences. In particular, this applies to the scientific conference on regional development and demographic flows, which has been organised every year since 1996, with the permanent increase in the number of participants, as well as the number of countries from which the authors come.

Considering the currency of the topic, a scientific conference entitled "Regional Development and Demographic Flows of Southeastern European Countries" - a kind of Niš School for regional development and demographic trends will be organised this year again, for the 28th time.

It would be a great pleasure if you would contribute to the successful work of the Scientific Conference with your participation and papers.
